You, my friend, who has frolicked in days warmed by a friendly summer star, pause, and remember the warm days you had in Jefferson beneath a winter star, frigid and impersonal. Heat? Yes, there was that. It was in the nineteen-hundred different voices singing out each day in radiant laughter, white-hot protest, glowing pride, blood-hot anger...warm friendship. Pause, my friend, to gaze into the mirrors which hold the warmth of a good year; reflections.

The halls you walked in bulged with scrambling students, whose friction warmed more than your heart.
and endeared them to more than one weary janitor.

With IBM synchronization you exploded with them from classrooms every fifty-five minutes.
You heard the firm voices who occasionally had to govern hairlines, hemlines and overzealous lunch tray-carriers.

More often, you heard them guiding those who sought knowledge or counsel.

You and a thousand other students, spurred on by the boundless encouragement of cheerleaders, raised your voices in tumultuous discord, pounding waves of electric excitement into the spine of every athletic performer.

And there were other voices: combined into exalted chorus by the sweep of two skillful hands, enhanced by the written words of Shakespeare and the sure guidance of the experienced, challenged by the world to defend an idea, a belief.

And there is more which is reflected in this school. The walls, eight years old now, remember the worried expressions of the sophomores, the knowing countenances of the juniors and seniors, and the unconcerned air of the stray dogs which invariably sauntered in through open doors. Some walls will always remember the weight of our roof.

You have seen the tranquil expansion of a city below, and the frenzied activity of clubs within, those firmly established and those newly organized.

And will you not forget the reincarnation of Tom Paine's immortal paper, nor the rampant radiators... which plagued some of us?
For many, who had sounded their voices in Jefferson's halls for three warm winters, there was a climax.

For the rest there was an inspiration for tomorrow, and for a special few there was the wonderment and excitement of a new land to hold forever.
One of us at Jefferson ended a career, but more than that--- an inspiration well-fulfilled.

In this building there are reflections of you:

an honor roll on which your name was written,

a post on which you scrawled your initials, a brass plaque on which your name was engraved, a place where your voice lingered many times.
But do not pause too long in reverie, my friend, for your destiny is not in the substances of wood, of brass, of paper; it is in the human essence of you —— us: Jefferson.
Homecoming Highlights

The car-smash.

Students vote.
The last few steps.

Queen Debby is crowned.

Before the big game.

Court and escorts view the game.

Mr. Ley dances?

Mr. Paxson pours punch.

The crown, cape, and roses.

The big moment.

Perhaps the highlight of the Homecoming weekend is the dance. Here Bob Sample and Sue Arp enjoy the music, provided by the Alternatives, and the atmosphere.

You saw... those who could have toiled for their own glory, erecting monolithic monuments for all men to see and instead, labored unseen, building roads and digging wells of knowledge for young men and women...
Mr. Jack Graham Joins Jefferson Administration

Mr. Paxson, chief administrator, is overseer of all activities at Jefferson. He has served the school since its opening in 1957. He was previously principal at McKinley when it was a high school. He received his BA from Parsons College and his MA from the University of Iowa.

Mr. Paxson is responsible for the hiring of the faculty and tending to their requests. He presides at the monthly faculty meetings, and he also is in charge of faculty-student relationships. He spends his summer months planning 1900 students' schedules and approximately 95 teachers' room assignments.

Mr. Paxson is a past president of the Cedar Rapids Kiwanis Club and past president of the Principals and Supervisors in this school system. He has been a member of both the Iowa and National Associations of Secondary Principals for thirty years. Mr. Paxson has also been named a life member of the N.E.A. (National Education Association) of which he has been a member for fifteen years.

Mr. Williams, Assistant Principal, is the Activities Coordinator. He is in charge of all drama, music, athletics, and clubs. His great interest in youth makes his job interesting and exciting.

Mr. Williams got his BA degree from William Penn College and his MA degree from Drake University. He previously taught science at Franklin before coming to Jefferson as Assistant Principal when the school was opened in 1957. His most interesting experiences involve chaperoning student tours.

Mr. Graham, assistant principal in charge of discipline and attendance, is in his first job as a high school administrator. However, his teaching and administrative services stretch back many years. He received his BA degree from Muskingum and his MA from Western Reserve University. At present he is working towards his Superintendent's Certificate, which requires more hours than a Master's. He has taught every grade from fifth through twelfth and has been an elementary and junior high administrator. He has also coached nearly every sport. When asked what his most interesting experience was, he said that winning the championship for two consecutive years in basketball was a big thrill.
Counselors Guide J-Hawks Through Busy Year

The counseling staff at Jefferson is designed to help students with any problems they may have. They administer college entrance tests to students from Jefferson and other schools. Without the Counselors' invaluable assistance in filling out schedules, applications, and questionnaires, many students would flounder.

Perhaps the greatest service is offered to college-bound seniors who have received many scholarships, grants, and recognition due to the persistent efforts of farsighted and dedicated Counselors. Most of the seniors would be completely unaware of all the opportunities available for financing their college education if it weren't for the Counselors.

The Counselors' office also keeps a complete stock of information on vocational-technical schools and trade schools.

Dick Downs shows Ray Thompson, Helen Masha, and Harold Myron some newly received college material.

Mrs. Conard shows Wendy Shafer some material from one of the many folders on careers, colleges, and vocations that are available in the Counselors' office.

Mr. Thompson helps a student with her scheduling. This is one of the major services offered by the Counselors.
Mr. Weld, American Government Teacher, was honored by being chosen to participate in the Experiment in International Living. He will live and travel in Nigeria for the summer and act as an ambassador of good will.

The Social Studies Department is beginning to reflect curriculum changes being made throughout the school system. All world cultures will be studied in high school, and American studies will be largely twentieth century history.

American citizenship awards from the Linn County Bar Association were sponsored by the department. Jefferson students who received them are Tom Blevins, Bill Coppock, Debby Gibson, Jon Meskimen, Bob Sample, and Steve Vosatka.

Jefferson won honors in the United Nations test, which is given annually in all the local high schools. Kay Priborsky and Mark Arnold, the first and second highest in city competition, were eligible for state and national competition.

Social Studies teachers conducted the annual Hawkeye Boys’ state election. Student voters chose juniors Larry Lawrence, Al Norris, and B. J. Trickey to represent Jefferson.

Mr. Al Snider, American Government and American Problems teacher, has a leave of absence for next year. He will be studying for his doctorate in education at the University of Nebraska.
Mr. Stevens and Mr. Allen are shown here busily correcting semester tests.

Mrs. Torstenson, department chairman, shows students of her American History class the city of Amarillo, Texas.
Brink Award Initiated for Excellence in Writing

The English department honored its devoted chairman this year in establishing the Eveadell Brink Award. The award, which consists of a twenty-five dollar check to be used at the winner's discretion, will be given annually to the student who demonstrates the most highly developed writing skills in an essay.

Dr. Kenneth Donelson, former Jefferson faculty member who judged this year's entries, chose senior Steve Vosatzka as the recipient of the first writing award. Steve's essay on the responsibility of protest was printed in the Gazette and as a supplement to Venture.

Providing students with good communications skills is the English department's aim. The curriculum stresses literature and writing but also offers many opportunities for oral work.

A new language arts course was offered this year. It is part of a large program designed to provide college-bound seniors with sufficient background to test out of at least part of freshman English and still receive credit for those hours in the colleges participating in the program. The course is known as the Advanced Standing Program in English, or simply A.S.P.; and its focal point is composition, both oral and written.

Mr. Meeker is not only a teacher but he is also the technical director of Jefferson's dramatic productions. Here he is shown in his working attire.
Mrs. Shackford types up a quiz for her second hour American Heritage class.

Mr. Ley explains his newspaper display from a journalism unit in his eleventh grade English class.
Variety of Math Courses Offered to Jeff Students.

The mathematics department is interested solely in preparing Jefferson students with the kind of background they will need in life. The program of study ranges from classes in basic arithmetic, a knowledge of which is essential for everyone, to classes in advanced mathematics, for those students who are planning to take mathematics courses in college.

This year the department offered a new course to Jefferson students. The course, Numerical Analysis, provided students with an introduction to computers. Those taking the course learned some of the fundamentals of computer programming and became familiar with Jefferson's IBM equipment.

Jefferson students again took part in the mathematics contest, which is sponsored annually by the Mathematical Association of America. The department gives a Mathematics Award each year to the student who gets the best score in the contest. Bill Coppock was this year's winner.

Jefferson ranked quite highly among the two-hundred-one schools that entered their scores in the state competition. The individual scores of the two best Jefferson contestants, Coppock and Gary Metelak, ranked fifteenth and eighteenth in the state, respectively. Our team score—a composite of Coppock's Metelak's and Marvin Schroeder's scores—ranked seventh in the state.

Science Department Offers Varied Courses

Courses in the Science Department range from Biology to Physics. In order to graduate a student needs two years of science. As a sophomore he can take Biology. As a junior or senior he can take Chemistry and when a senior, Physics or Physical Science. In Biology he learns the process of life from simple cells to reproduction of mammals. In Chemistry he discovers the slide rule, the elements and the combination of these elements. Physics demands a broader Math background than Biology or Chemistry, and in Physics the student becomes acquainted with some of the physical properties of matter such as: heat, light, mass, momentum, gravity, and sound. Physical Science is not as taxing a course as Physics. In this course the student learns basic science theories that are helpful in daily life.

The Science Department staff this year was under the guidance of Mr. Stolar, Physics teacher, Mr. Ted Lawrence, Physical Science instructor, resigned at mid-year to accept a coaching position at the University of Iowa. He was replaced by Mr. Leo Mork.

The modern wonder of the Foreign Language lab with its whirring tapes and its teacher's commands. Much money is spent on a project such as this.

The proximity of different nations and cultures necessitates a demand for a study of these different countries, their languages, and their cultures. The study of language and culture of these different countries is the purpose of foreign language classes. Offered at Jefferson this year were Spanish, French, German, and Latin. These courses were offered at three or four different levels depending on the students' ability and previous foreign language experience. The study of a language begins with simple dialogue sentences and basic pronunciation techniques. As the student advances, he learns more of the culture of the country as well as more advanced vocabulary and sentence structure. The students eventually read simple novels and stories where they must apply what they have learned. To further interest in the language, students often play games where they must use synonyms and antonyms to solve riddles or unknown words. The advanced classes sing carols and sometimes go Christmas Caroling. The use of the laboratory is an important tool of the foreign language teacher. Records are also made available for students to practice with at home.

Mrs. Sheperd, French instructor, works the console at the front of the lab. The teacher can sit at this spot and know what and how every student in the lab is doing.
The most important advance in the driver education department was the passage of the driver education bill by the state legislature. As a result of that bill, residents of Iowa may not get a driver's license until they are eighteen unless they have successfully completed a driver education course. The bill also provides for a state reimbursement to the department for each driver education student.

Driver education is divided into three areas—classroom, lab, and cars—and is handled on a team teaching basis. Every effort is made to give students experience in driving under all road conditions. In the lab, driving simulators are used to provide those situations that cannot be experienced in the cars, such as freeway driving and various emergencies. The lab now features a new cinemascopic screen and color films to make lab driving seem more like the real thing.

Mr. Brown's Driver Education class isn't daunted by the snow, as they plan to drive anyway. Driving in adverse conditions is part of the training necessary for good driver awareness.

Homemaking classes are great fun for girls because there are many opportunities for them to learn the latest about every Tom, Dick, and Harry. In all seriousness, however, most homemaking students seek to define their values in life, to sharpen cooking and sewing skills, to learn new ideas, and to gain a basic knowledge of household operations.

The major areas of study are, of course, foods and clothing. In the foods unit students learn not only cooking techniques, but also marketing, meal planning, table etiquette, and how to digest an occasional flop. Besides actual garment construction, the clothes unit covers fabric selection, fabric care, fashions, and the basic principle that "a stitch in time saves nine."

Students often work on individual projects outside of class. These projects range from cleaning a closet to sewing a dress, from learning to eat a good breakfast every day to losing weight, from trying to freeze an egg to analyzing a meat pie for nutritional value, and from creating a centerpiece to planning, cooking, and serving a family meal.

The homemaking department administers the Betty Crocker Homemaker of Tomorrow test to all its senior students each year. Sandy Trachta had the highest score this year and represented Jefferson in the state contest. For her efforts Sandy received a pin from Betty Crocker.

There was a new face on the homemaking staff this year as Miss Connie Davenport took over Mrs. JoAnn Bodeker's classes.
Physical Education Department
Stimulates Maturing Muscles

As the student matures mentally in his academic courses, so must he also mature physically; this is the goal of the Physical Education Department. In order to graduate a student needs five semesters of gym and one of swimming. If a student participates in athletics, however, he is exempt from gym classes. For those who don’t participate in athletics, there are plenty of activities to keep them fit. The classes usually begin with sometimes vigorous exercises. After these are finished, the students work at outdoor activities if the weather is nice and stay inside if inclement weather persists. Some of the more popular indoor sports include volleyball, basketball, dodgeball, and gymnastics.

A boys' gym class participates in a fast game of basketball, a more popular indoor sport.
Mr. Brockway hands out swim suits to his sophomore swim class. Swimming is a required course for sophomores, and Mr. Brockway has crowded classes with all of the sophomores.

Carol Schrage has a little difficulty on the rings and needs a little help from Jackie Benzinger and Carol Roustio to stay off the ground.

Linda Chmelicek helps Theresa Murray on the balance beam. Senior girls spent many hours on the gymnastic equipment.

Girls' gym class is alive with motion as some students work out on the trampoline while others do floor exercise.
Data Processing Added to Business Curriculum

One of the highlights of this year's Business Department was the addition of a full year Data-Processing Course. The girls involved in this course worked in the afternoons at businesses that used data processing. Jefferson is one of the select few schools in the country offering data-processing to their students. The most important course offered is typing. This is the most popular of business courses as more students find it handier to type themes and notes rather than write them in longhand. For those students who want secretarial help they can take advanced typing, bookkeeping, and shorthand.

Beginner’s typing finds people who want to learn to type for schoolwork only and those who want to become secretaries.
Some of the members of the Data Processing class are shown here operating the card punch machines.

Vocal music at Jefferson is designed to meet the musical interests of not only the students belonging to the four choirs but also the audiences for which they performed. Mr. Carlson, vocal director, conducted the Girls' Choir, Girls' Chorus, Boys' Choir, and Concert Choir. Together, these choirs formed the Festival Chorus which performed in the All-City Vocal Festival, and the Spring Concert. Two musical stage productions were produced by the groups. "The Emperor's New Clothes" included Girls' Choir and Chorus and Boys' Choir. The Concert Choir presented Jefferson's ninth annual musical, "FlowerDrum Song," by Rogers and Hammerstein.

Mr. Carlson once again heads up the annual choir fund raising project of selling World's Finest Chocolate.

Fine Arts Department
Stimulates Cultural Creativity In Students

Students electing to take art are provided with the opportunity to express themselves freely in their creative work. Ceramics, sculpturing, sketching, and watercoloring are a few of the skills learned. Various projects included displaying of works in the art room, designing various programs and covers, including the cover for the 1966 Statesman by Bruce Nemecek. Students also made animal heads used in school plays and provided decorations for various club functions.
A new addition to this year's instrumental music staff is Mr. Luman Colton who replaced Mr. Anderson who retired. Mr. Colton came from Roosevelt Junior High where he previously taught. He teaches both sophomore and Concert band. His enthusiasm for bands helped prompt the purchase of new band uniforms for both concerts and marching.

Mr. Dallas Tjaden handles the Jefferson orchestra. A veteran of many orchestras, Mr. Tjaden once again molded the strings and brass into a superb musical organization.

The trade and industry program is a part of the over-all education program being offered in the Cedar Rapids Community Schools for the first time this year. It is a part-time cooperative education program for senior boys enrolled in high school and, through a cooperative arrangement between school and industry, receive technical and related vocational instruction in school and on-the-job experience through actual employment.

The course content for the third year woodworking class was new this year. The first semester was a class project in carpentry in which the students designed, planned and constructed a 22' by 24' double garage. In the second semester the class projects were cabinetmaking, in which the students constructed cabinets and built-ins and mass-production, where students designed and constructed the jigs and fixtures used, along with twelve student desks.

The appointment of Mr. Bro as Chairman of the Industrial Arts Department was announced at the April meeting of the Industrial Arts staff. Mr. Schrody resigned from the position after serving for the nine years since Jefferson was established.

Organizations

...the vibrant energy of our students, inexhaustible and promptly exploding each day after school into the proportions of a supernova—powering an innumerable amount of activities...
The Youth for Christ Club presents Christ as the primary answer to the questions and problems of students' lives. Some of the activities of YFC were roller-skating parties, rallies, and songfests. It is affiliated with Greater Cedar Rapids YFC and YFC International. The club is non-sectarian, has no set membership or dues, and all students are welcomed to attend.

YFC Places Spiritual Emphasis on Students' Lives

Being a member of Projection Club authorizes students to operate the school system's audio-visual equipment. Each member must pass an operation test. Those passing the test are awarded licenses which state that they are qualified to operate the equipment. Projection Club is open to all students.
Distributive Education Clubs of America (DECA) identifies a program of youth activities relating to Distributive Education (DE). It is designed to develop future leaders for marketing and distribution. It encourages group participation, leadership development, and career study. DE is recognized as a vital part of the total DECA program. Through the state and national DECA organizations, Jefferson DE students take part in the State Delegate Assembly and Leadership Conference at Des Moines and also the National Leadership Conference in Chicago. These activities provide an opportunity for state and national recognition. DECA's activities included money-making projects to finance state and national trips, service projects, formal and informal social events, and an employer-employee banquet. At this banquet, certificates of completion were presented to each DE student and awards were given to one boy and one girl selected as DE students of the year for Cedar Rapids.

Last year Jefferson students purchased nearly 3000 books at Jefferson's own bookstore. The store, in its seventh year of existence, was operated by Mr. Terry Ley, faculty manager, and senior Gall Brink, the store's first student manager. The managers were responsible for ordering, checking in, displaying, and returning merchandise. A staff of nearly twenty-five student clerks, primarily juniors and seniors, assisted customers in making selections, sold books, straightened shelves, and helped in compiling a list of the more than 600 titles normally stocked in the bookstore.

The Usher Club is a service organization. The members usher at all fine arts events -- plays, vocal and instrumental concerts, and operettas presented in the Jefferson auditorium. Whenever possible, the members volunteer to serve at these performances. They must be prepared to handle any crisis. For example, this year the second performance of "Amaßh and the Night Visitors" had an overflow crowd and the ushers had to quickly place chairs in the aisles so that the number of people standing could be reduced to a minimum. The ushers are there to see that the audience enjoys every performance.
Doll-Fin-Nettes is the girls' swimming club at Jefferson. It is open to any girl in 10th, 11th, or 12th grade who is interested in swimming and increasing her skills in synchronized swimming routines. The girls are classified into three groups: Dolls, Fins, and Nettes. In these groups they work on developing their skill in synchronized swimming by learning the basic as well as the more advanced stunts. It is traditional for the club to back the swim team. This year the club took trips to surrounding high schools and colleges to view their techniques and see the various water shows.

Chess Club Rebuilds--Competition Intensified

The Jefferson Chess Club is an organization of varied activity. This year was a rebuilding year in which the formation of a strong unit for the coming year was undertaken. Because of the lack of competitive chess clubs from other schools, the chess club competed in only a few selected dual-meets. But this year something entirely new was tried to promote interest in the game and to build up the membership. For the first year, the chess club had undertaken to instruct beginners in the basic rudiments of chess. Chess is a game of strategy which issues a challenge to all who enjoy matching wits with a variety of worthy adversaries.
Jefferson FBLA is open to all junior and senior girls taking a business course this year. FBLA is a national organization. The activities of this club are planned to promote an understanding of business, to learn about employment opportunities, to render service to school and community, and to promote fellowship and friendship among its members. The activities and projects were financed by the sale of paper and candy. The highlights of the year included the tour to Chicago and participation in the state convention. Also, the club entertained the sixty members of the Cedar Rapids Consumer Credit Association, the adult sponsoring organization, at a buffet dinner in the school cafeteria.

FBLA Leads to Future Business Careers

The purpose of FBLA is to bring young people together who are interested in nursing and health careers, to share these interests, to explore opportunities and requirements in these fields, and to learn about the community life in which they will participate. FBLA must include one or more service projects in the year's activities in order to obtain a renewal of their charter. One project was a clothing drive for Appalachian children under the direction of Save the Children Federation, Inc. Twenty-six bags of clothing donated by the Jefferson students and faculty were packaged, weighed, and tied for shipping. Another recent project was the donation of thirty-five dollars to the Jane Boyd Community House. The only fund raising project was the annual bake sale held during Open House at Jefferson.

FHA Develops Conscientious Homemakers

Future Homeakers of America (FHA) is a national organization in high school. There are about 10,000 chapters throughout the United States and its territories. Any student who is taking, or has taken a homemaking course in school may become a member. Our motto, "Toward New Horizons," reminds FHA members of their responsibilities to their present community and to their country tomorrow. The main objective of FHA is to help individuals improve personal, family, and community living. Each year, the FHA selects goals to guide its group activities toward this objective. Each chapter provides training for every member for participation in home, school, and community activities.
Lettermen's Club was organized to stimulate the interest and support of the student body. This club supervises and regulates the awards system and annually presents an appropriate award to the outstanding senior athlete. This year the Lettermen's Club sold booster buttons and helped sponsor an all-school fun night.

Girls Invade Boys' Gun Club

Gun Club is organized for those students who are interested in target shooting and the proper use of a gun. The members do not enter competition but shoot only for their own recreation. The club was changed this year in that girls were allowed to join the boys in this activity.

Fun Nights Sponsored by GRA

The GRA aim is to provide an opportunity for fun and variety by the way of recreation. It also promotes better citizenship, greater physical and social development, good sportsmanship, and interest in girl's athletics. GRA began the year with a picnic and the usual initiation. This year more than one activity was offered at a time so each girl could participate in the sport she enjoyed the most. The main ones offered were volleyball, basketball, gymnastics, tennis, and softball. Along with the Doll-Finettes, GRA held a fun night for the school. With their profits a bulletin board and GRA sweatshirts were bought. There were also playdays at LaSalle, S.U.I., and Tipton. The GRA hosted a party for the Lettermen's Club and a sport night for the junior and senior highs. The highlights of the year were a trip to the Girls' State Basketball Tournament in Des Moines and a Campout at Hannon Lake.

The Debate Club was quite active this year and was fairly successful. One of the many speech contests held this year was the Mississippi Valley Speech Contest held at Jefferson. Other contests were held at Dubuque Wahlert, Newton, Ames, and Iowa City. The Debate Club assisted in the annual J-Hawk Invitational Speech Contest in which twenty-two schools participated. Jefferson took first place with the Sweepstakes Trophy.

National Honor Society Stresses Academic Excellence

The National Honor Society is an organization which honors high school juniors and seniors who have a high grade point average plus specific evidence of leadership and services. Character is a very important criteria in the selection of candidates. National Honor Society is one of the few organizations in our school which gives to its members national recognition for outstanding achievement. Membership in the society not only gives prestige to its members but also unlocks the door to many opportunities, such as college scholarships and job preferences.

The library workers are trained in the basics of library operations. They do such tasks as shelving books, typing, filing, checking passes, keeping the magazine room in order, working at the charging desk, helping process new books, and writing overdue notices. Student Council again performed its traditional activities of decorating for homecoming and setting up and decorating the Christmas tree. Speakers were sent to the State Student Council Convention at Ames. One important act of this year's Student Council was the improving upon the city-wide dress code. Despite its size, Student Council was generally able to achieve its aim of benefitting the students of the school.

Venture is a literary magazine published annually by Jefferson students under the auspices of the English Department for the purpose of encouraging and stimulating the student body. Students may submit original creative work -- fiction, non-fiction, poetry, and art. For the first time, photography was offered in the competition. All entries are judged by the student staff and those deemed most outstanding are published. The entries to be published receive a final judging by an outside critic to determine which should be given awards. The top three selections in each of the categories -- fiction, non-fiction, poetry, and art -- are the award recipients.

Quill and Scroll was formed in 1926 by publication advisors to reward individual achievement and to encourage individual initiative in high school journalism, creative writing, and all other related fields. Jefferson's chapter includes students from the Outlook, the Statesman, and Venture. A student must meet certain requirements, set up by the Quill and Scroll constitution, to become a member. One should be a junior or senior in high school, be in the upper third of his class scholastically, have done superior work in some phase of school publications work, and be recommended by the advisor and be approved by the secretary-treasurer of the society.

Jefferson Outlook
Thomas Jefferson High School, Cedar Rapids, Iowa

The sixteen issues of the Jefferson Outlook, plus this year's extra edition concerning the Washington-Jefferson football game, were written entirely by the fourteen students who made up the Outlook staff. All aspects of getting the newspaper published and out to the students -- writing, editing, proofreading, headline writing, advertising, make up, photography, and distribution were carried out by the 1965-66 Jefferson Outlook staff. In addition to putting out the bi-weekly publication, the Outlook staff and Miss Pat McConville, advisor, assisted the Cedar Rapids Club of Printing House Craftsmen in the Graphic Arts Fair in January.
This year's staff worked many days and nights to produce the '66 Statesman. With more pages and a new cover color and design, this year's book is one of the best ever.

This year's Statesman sales started rather slowly, but picked up as the sales deadline approached.

Clinton Becomes No. 3, 20-10

The J-Hawks third victory of the season came over Clinton, but not before Clinton unleashed a powerful passing attack. Bill Raun and the Clinton River Kings came to Kingston Stadium undefeated and ranked third in the state. Raun’s passing was outstanding as he completed 16 out of 25. G. V. James caught Clinton’s only TD pass and Proud kicked the extra point and field goal that followed shortly after. But this was all the River Kings could muster as Jefferson’s great line held Clinton to only 39 yards rushing. Hellentall, Bevill, Louvar, Lahman, McCormick, Carney, McDowell, Shaver, Baker, Barnard, Meskimen, Trickey, and Witt pursued with J-Hawk intensity to contain the speedy Clinton handily. Ted Knutson, Larry Lawrence, and Jon Meskimen scored the Jefferson touchdowns, as Ron McDonald added the extra points. Steve Zobac did an outstanding job of running by averaging ten yards per carry.

J-Hawk Drive Begins

The 1965 J-Hawks opened their season by traveling to West Waterloo to take on George Dutcher’s Wahawks in a match of the Big Six Conference against the Mississippi Valley Conference. The game proved a mismatch as the J-Hawk’s offense gained 447 yards and scored eight touchdowns for a total of 53 points. Jon Meskimen, Ted Knutson, Craig Shaver, Scoop Hellentall, and Tim Kelley all scored TD’s while Larry Baker collected two. Quarterbacks Larry Lawrence, B. J. Trickey, and Tom Blevins all threw touchdown passes. The first team defense limited the Wahawks to just twenty total yards in the first half. The J-Hawk defense was led by Bill Bevill, Gar McCormick, Layne McDowell, and Roger Barnard.

The J-Hawks entertained the East Moline Panthers in their home opener of the 1965 season and notched their second lopsided victory of the young season, 48-0. Ted Knutson scored three touchdowns while Scoop Hellentall, Jon Meskimen, and Bob Rudd got one each. Ron McDonald kicked six of seven extra points for the night. The tough J-Hawk defense held East Moline to 24 yards.

Jon Meskimen demonstrates his agility, speed, and power as he races up the sidelines for long yardage.

Ted Knutson proves why he was regarded as a dangerous threat as he powerfully muscles his way out of the hands of a would-be tackler.
Ron McDonald gets ready to kick another J-Hawk extra point. Ron converted 33 out of 44 extra points to become the team's third leading scorer. His extra points in the Davenport Central game proved to be the winning margin.

Coach Lawrence gives co-captain Jon Meskimen instructions during a brief time out. Jon was the second leading scorer on the team with 54 points, and he was one of few Jefferson players to play both on defense and offense.

Jeff Too Much For Dubuque, West Davenport

The Jefferson team bounced back after the tough Clinton game to rout a determined Ram team, 48-0. Dennis Bandy, the fine Dubuque fullback, did a great job against the tough J-Hawk line, but he couldn't do it alone as the big J-Hawks moved the ball almost at will against the smaller Rams. Jeff finished the night with 526 yards gained and eight touchdowns. Jon Meskimen, Steve Zobac, Bob Kohl, Joe Schmickle, and Larry Lawrence provided the scoring punch as Meskimen and Zobac each scored two and the others one touchdown each. Lawrence, Trickey, and Blevins did a fine job passing as they completed 12 out of 20 attempts for 300 yards.

In a driving rainstorm, the J-Hawks downed previously undefeated West Davenport, 14-7. Jeff scored first on a 42 yard pass from Larry Lawrence to Scoop Hellentall. West came right back to tie the score at halftime, 7-7. In the second half the J-Hawks recovered a West fumble and drove 31 yards to score on a quarterback sneak by Lawrence. The punting of Bob Simek and Jon Meskimen was outstanding as they averaged 36 yards per kick on a very wet and muddy field. The J-Hawk defense held West to four yards in the last half and the whole J-Hawk squad showed the ability to play like champions under the most difficult situations.

Here B. J. Trickey proves why he was selected on the All-City Defensive Team as he helps deflect a would-be reception.
The intra-city battle between Washington was played on a beautiful football night before 12,000 partisan fans. Jeff was shooting for their fifth straight victory over their eastern neighbors and they achieved it in a convincing manner. Ted Knutson scored three touchdowns while Craig Shaver and Tim Kelley each were on the receiving end of a touchdown pass. Again the J-Hawk defense was great as they held the Warriors to 68 total yards gained. Garland McCormick had 12 tackles, which was the highest number of tackles for an individual in a single game during the 1965 season.

The Little Hawks of Iowa City came to Kingston Stadium determined to end the J-Hawk's unbeaten string. Iowa City was the last conference team to beat the J-Hawks in Kingston Stadium back in the third game of the 1961 season. The fine passing of Mike Cilek and Steve Piro couldn't dent the J-Hawk armor as the Jeff defense held the rushing game of Iowa City to a --20 yards for the night. Jefferson touchdowns came through the efforts of Ted Knutson, Bob Kohl, Joe Schmickle, Jon Meskimen, Tim Kelley, Roger Barnard, and Emmit Omar, with Schmickle and Knutson each collecting two to provide the J-Hawks with a comfortable 59-0 margin. The defense was led by Bill Bevill and Al Louvar, who repeatedly broke through the Iowa City line to throw their runners for losses. Scoop Hellentall and Larry Baker also did a fine job in the defensive end positions.
The dream game finally arrived as the state's number one and number two teams paired up at Kingston Stadium before 12,000 fans and a huge television audience that covered three states. Both teams performed like champions as mistakes were few and outstanding plays were frequent. Jeff started the scoring as Lawrence hit Hellentall with a long pass and Meskimen carried it in on a four yard plunge. Davenport countered with a touchdown just before the half ended but missed the extra point which enabled the J-Hawks to carry a 7-6 advantage into the halftime. Jeff moved 65 yards in the third quarter to score as Lawrence again hit Hellentall on a 19 yard TD pass. However within a period of 84 seconds, Davenport scored on a 20 yard run and an 85 yard touchdown pass for an 18-14 Central lead. With seven minutes remaining, the J-Hawks received the kickoff and Kohl returned it to his own 28-yard line. Jeff then marched to the Davenport 14 on a great catch and pass from Lawrence to Hellentall. Meskimen carried for four yards, and with one minute remaining, Larry Lawrence made a spectacular run on the option play to score the most precious touchdown of the season. Jon Meskimen recovered a Central fumble as time ran out on probably the best high school football game ever witnessed in Iowa. It was a great victory and showed that the J-Hawks were deserving of being called champions, because they came back just as true champions must.
Rocks Final Jeff Victim, 43-0

In order to be the first team in Jefferson history to win nine games without a loss, the J-Hawks had to dispose of the pass-minded Rocks of Rock Island. B. J. Trickey started things off with his first touchdown of the season on a fine interception and run-back of 38 yards. B. J. had two other interceptions the first half which also led to touchdowns. Jefferson's other scoring was provided by Jon Meskimen with two touchdowns, Larry Lawrence and Bob Kohl with one, and a safety on a blocked punt by Al Louvar. The tough Jeff defense finished the season as the league's best, giving up only 423 yards rushing the entire year; and average of only 47 yards per game. It was a fitting climax to Jefferson's finest hour as the 1965 team repeated as Conference and mythical State Champions.

Suffer First Loss In Three Years

For the third year in a row, the Jefferson sophomore football team dominated league play, coming out with a near-perfect 7-1-0 record. This championship was just another credit to the coaching of Dutch Sauerbry and Bob Allen, J-Hawk sophomore mentors. The hard work put into building this fine squad emphasizes the importance that the varsity coaches place on a strong crop of sophomore athletes.

The J-Hawks captured the league title on their next-to-the-last game before suffering a 20-19 last-second loss to Davenport Central on the final day of the season. But even this loss couldn't dull the excellent shine of the young J-Hawk record. One of the most important triumphs of the year came against cross-town rival Washington. The J-Hawks proved their superiority by posting a 27-19 victory after leading the entire game.

Gary Benson was the individual offensive standout as he led the MVC with a 10.1 yard per carry average. Gary scored 100 points for the season and Doug Lane followed with 38 markers for the year. Totals for the year in scoring gave Jeff 181 points to their opponents 60.

The defensive front was headed by Roger White, Larry Green, Clark Malmer, and Dave Wilkey. Roger had the most tackles with 27 and also the leading number of assists with 34. Once again the sophomores exemplified the true fighting spirit of Jefferson and they are a credit and honor to our school.

Gary Benson, leader scorer and ground-gainer for the J-Hawks, gets a short rest here during a timeout. Gary averaged 10.1 yards per carry and scored 100 points to lead the sophomores to a 7-1-0 record and the Mississippi Valley Conference Championship.
Cheerleaders Provide Enthusiasm for Successful Teams

All wet at the Davenport West game were varsity cheerleaders Carol Astor, Pat Kelly, Janice Shaw, Janet Pease, Pam Pealer, Judi Hayden, Nancy Smith, Rhonda Dierks, and Debbie Gibson.

Besides the obvious responsibility of leading cheers in support of the athletic teams, the cheerleaders must also assume other responsibilities. Together they organized a pre-season banquet for all Cedar Rapids and Marion cheerleaders, held try-outs for sophomores, planned programs for pep assemblies, hosted a homecoming breakfast for the queen candidates and the football captains, established sign contests, and cheered for the First Annual College All-Star football game. A highlight for the winter sports season, during which the girls divide into two separate squads for wrestling and basketball, were the new, collegiate-looking uniforms.

Under the watchful guidance of their advisor Miss Kaye Dennis, the sophomore cheerleaders mastered the techniques of cheering. Supporting the sophomore and junior varsity teams this year were Cheryl St. Germain, Jaci Johnson, Karen Rayborn, Joanne Waldron, Pam Erusha, and Jackie Easker.

Slow Start with a Fast Finish

Pre-season pick to tie for fourth place in the Mississippi Valley Conference with one Illinois team, while the other two fight for first: the 1965-66 J-Hawks surprised everyone. The J-Hawks played a major role in the end of the Illinois domination with a second place finish, highest ever for an Iowa team.

Jeff opened with an easy 81-74 victory over a ranked Washington, Iowa team, but then ran into trouble. A hot-shooting Rock Island team invaded an untested Jefferson; coming out with a 95-85 victory. Next Jeff played Clinton, the only team to twice beat the J-Hawks. Shooting at an incredible 60 percent, Clinton took the first game 76-67. The second game preceded a long winning streak, with the River Kings the victors 66-56 in a foul filled contest. The J-Hawks then began to jell for a while, as their first 60 percent shooting spelled defeat for Davenport West, 72-63. And another victory over cross-town rival Washington 70-60 evened their record at two and two. Near disaster followed though, as a seldom miss East Moline brought on a 90-79 defeat. This game forced Jefferson to switch to a zone defense; and their season went 12 wins and 2 losses afterward. Jeff next defeated Davenport Central 71-57, and Dubuque 87-65. But another cold J-Hawk night brought on the second Clinton defeat 66-56.
And next came the annual mid-season splash, as the J-Hawks began to key on defense, and ten straight victories shot them to a second place finish. Beginning with a 57-55 victory over Iowa City in another foul filled game; Jefferson avenged the near loss in their second meeting, 82-62. The second victory over Davenport Central 65-60 preceded the second victory over last place Dubuque 70-46. And then came Jefferson's top two games of the year. First was Washington, hot off of six straight wins; two over Illinois schools, and a slim loss to Moline. The J-Hawks responded with a 75-56 runaway. And the defending champs, untested in league play, next brought their unblemished record to Jefferson. Hot shooting, pressure defense, and an unbeatable spirit handed the J-Hawks a 66-57 victory. High point of the season. A rest followed, as Jeff reserves led an 85-68 rout of Marion. And next Jefferson avenged a costly loss to Rock Island, 54-50. And a second victory over Davenport West 47-44 added to the 10 game winning streak. Jeff's final conference record was 12 wins and 4 losses, one game behind repeating Champion Moline. Next came a disastrous tournament.
Discouraging End

The J-Hawks opened the tournaments against a highly ranked crosstown rival Regis. Jefferson went into control early, and kept their composure through a rough battle. Full court press, tough boardwork, and a heated Regis defense was overcome for the first, and only district win, 69-59.

Next came Jefferson's lowest point in what could have been a near perfect season. In a typical first quarter at the Iowa fieldhouse, the J-Hawks couldn't find the basket. A ten point deficit was overcome once; but a slow and deliberate Washington offense came out on top. Jefferson's worst shooting percentage of the whole year, 21 percent, spelled defeat.

Not one single standout, the J-Hawks worked as a complete team. Four boys averaged in double figures, with Pat Driscoll leading at 15 points per game. However Bob Sample, B.J. Trickey, and Larry Baker were close behind. From the center position, Larry Baker had an amazing 60 percent shooting average. Larry was also the leading rebounder on the team. Getting an amazing 21 rebounds in one single game, and 17 in four others; Larry was close to the rebounding record with 257. Bob Sample, last year's leader, was second with 183.

With the close of a successful, but disappointing season, the J-Hawks look forward to next year. With three returning starters and seven of the top ten back, the J-Hawk outlook is bright. However, the loss of fourth team State Pat Driscoll and Honorable mention Bob Sample will be felt.
The 1966-67 J-Hawks, lacking height and a consistent scoring punch, managed four victories against 14 losses. However, the sophomore team's ability to fight in the clutch won their games which went down to the buzzer. The best evidence of this was in a 53-52 victory over Clinton. Down by 9 with less than one minute left and the other team in possession, the J-Hawks began a frantic press. Two steals by Larry Kuenzi and two by Chuck Haynor, left a one point deficit with eight seconds left on the clock. A steal by Larry Kuenzi, and a wild shot which went astray seemed to spell defeat; but Clark Malmer tapped the rebound in as the buzzer sounded.

The sophomores won their first game over Washington, Iowa, by 61-60, after losing a rather large lead. The highlights of the season were a slim eight point loss to Moline, and two victories over Davenport West. The West scores were 71-60 and 66-47; and Larry Kuenzi with 27 points and Bill Neal with 24 respectively, set the pace.

Larry Kuenzi was the leading scorer for the year with a 12 point average, with Steve Hatfield and Bill Neal close behind with 10 and 8 point averages respectively. Clark Malmer with 121 and Mark Tschopp with 111 were the team's leading rebounders.

Co-Captains 1965-1966 Season - Jon Meskimen and Al Louvar
Gar McCormick struggles for an escape from his Wash adversary John Newmeister.

Terry Kemme listens to advice from Coach Jack Fisk as he prepares to meet his opponent. Jefferson dropped this important match, therefore forfeiting the Mississippi Valley Conference Championship by a score of 25-16.

Jeff vs Wash in Mat Thriller

Burly Jon Meskimen wraps up the Jeff-Wash meet with a pin.
Individual Effort Means Team Success

Mike Riley, 120 pounds, attempts to subdue his opponent’s efforts to escape in the sectional meet held at Jefferson.

Henry Orton gains a reversal from his Marion adversary.

Bill Lahman emerges as victor in the Wash meet.

Al Louvar gets a much needed pin in the same meet.

Four J-Hawks Take Jeff to State

Fallen J-Hawk

Jim Kimball works for a reversal in first round action at the State meet.

Coach Jack Fisk shouts advice during a J-Hawk match.
Sophomores Gain Experience for Future Competition

A consecutive winner, here Doug Lane pins his opponent.

In varsity action, Ron Pierce works for a fall.

Coach Weld is pleased with another J-Hawk victory.

Hustle, Desire, Dedication, and Knowledge of the sport of wrestling are all necessary qualities for a successful matman. Several boys on the sophomore squad exemplified these ideals. Ed Feckley competed at 103 pounds in varsity, junior varsity, and sophomore competition. Craig Miller wrestled 138 and 145.
Jefferson Swim Team 9th in State

As in previous years, this year was a rebuilding year. With the loss of the senior lettermen, most of the depth required for the events fell upon the sophomores, and even though they had little previous experience, they did rather well. Although the team record in general wasn't the best, the team was perhaps the most improved team in the conference by the end of the season.

After being beaten last year by Marshalltown and West Waterloo in a triangular meet, the J-Hawks came back to defeat them (Jeff: 67, Mar.: 60, W.W.: 47) and in the meantime set various records in the Marshalltown pool. Steve Burns set two J-Hawk records this year, one in the 200 yard freestyle with a time of 4:19.2. (the old records: 200 yd. free, Steve Strauss 1:58.4; 400 yd. free, Pat Fowler, 4:21.6). The other record was set by Dennis Vavrcek, Vic Konecny, Mike Schafer, and Dennis Valenta; the time for this 400 yard relay was 3:45.5. (This was a new event this year.)

In the Mississippi Valley Sophomore meet this year, Jeff finished 3rd overall in team points. Vic Konecny was a double winner for the J-Hawks in diving and the 50 yard free.

Jeff 3rd in District

In the district meet at Marshalltown, two J-Hawks came through in true J-Hawk style—once in district go on to state and win. Steve Burns (left) placed 2nd in the 200 yard free and 3rd in the 400 yard free. He went to state and at Ames in the ISU pool placed 4th in the 200 yard and 4th in the 400 yard free. Dennis Valenta (right) placed 3rd in the 50 yard free and 3rd in the 100 yard free in district. Dennis also went to state and he took 4th in the 100 yard free, but lost a swim-off for 6th in the 50 yard free and thereby placed 7th. The team tied (with Boone) for 3rd in district, however, the J-Hawks placed 9th in the state on the points "piled up" by Steve and Dennis alone.

A new sport was introduced to the Jefferson scene this year—Gymnastics. Five different squads composed the gymnastics league this year. The Jeff team was formed from a nucleus of ten boys who practiced from 7:00 a.m. to 8:00 a.m. every morning. Highlights of the season came in the state meet at Marshalltown where Jeff placed in many events. Jim Forcht won the state championship in the high bar exercises. Terry Aubrecht won third place in the side horse while he also took fourth in the floor exercise division or event. Other highlights included a heartbreaking loss to Washington by a slim margin of only 1 1/2 points. The task that these boys took was a difficult one but they came through in the true Jefferson tradition.
The track team at Jefferson had one of the best seasons in the history of the school. Throughout the year they finished either near or at the top in every meet. Jefferson also had a successful dual meet season winning all their dual meets. Participating were

Bob Rudd placed second in the MVC meet by vaulting 13 feet 6 inches. It was one of the best vaults ever made in the state, and it set a school record.

NEW J-HAWK RECORDS

Bob Kohl 220-yard dash 22.1
Doug Lane shot-put 62 ft. 11 1/4 in.
Bob Rudd pole vault 13 ft. 6 in.
Bill Bevill 60-yd. low hurdles 7.1 Indoor Bill Bevill 60-yd. high hurdles 7.6 Indoor

Although former state champion Jon Meskimen remained an excellent shot-putter. He was forced to concede his title to Doug Lane.

Ron Heidt displays the proper form for clearing his mark in the high jump.
Bob Kohl was one of the top sprinters in the state placing second in the 100-yd. dash in the Drake Relays, the MVC meet and in the State meet.

Ted Knutson was the State Champion in the discus throw.

Jefferson’s 880-yard relay was one of the best in the state and captured the event in the Dickenson Relays. They placed second in the MVC meet and fourth in the Drake Relays. The team members were Gary Benson, Blane Phillips, Bill Bevill, and Bob Kohl. These same boys set a school record in the 440-yard relay with a time of 43.5 seconds and a school record in the 880-yard relay with a time of 1:29.9.

Sophomore Doug Lane set a shot-put record in every meet in which he competed. Doug holds the National Shot-put Record with a throw of 62 feet 11 1/4 inches. This is also an Iowa Interscholastic record. Doug competed in an All Star Meet in Mexico, Missouri, where he competed against shot-putters from many Mid-Western states. He won first place and set a meet record. Doug is also an excellent discus thrower.

The track team owes much of its success to the guidance and leadership of Coach Ask.

Track Consists of Several Outstanding Individuals
Sophomores are eligible for varsity competition as well as sophomore and junior varsity competition. First Row: Steve Douglas, Rick Meints, Steve Archibald, Randy Lagos, Dave Dryland, Gary Benson, and Jim Sorenson. Second Row: Ron Heidt, Tom Fontana, Doug Lane, Bob Lyman, Bill Myers, Les Rodgers.

Cross Country competition is held in the fall. Participating in the 1965 season were Alan Hach, Steve Farmer, Dave Dryland, Mike Watson, Steve Hempel, and Greg Dennis.
Steve Tibbetts finds that there are more problems than just hitting the ball as he stoops over one such problem.

Here four of the most consistent and most valuable members of the golf squad talk over strategy while cleaning their golf balls at the Ellis Park course. They are Gary Metelak, Dave Young, Craig Struve and Lynn Lawrence.

This year the golf team operated under a newly devised league plan which divided the conference into a North and South half. Jefferson is in the North half along with Clinton, Dubuque, Iowa City, and Washington. The teams played five, eighteen-hole meets at each of the five schools. The winner of each division was determined by the low team total for the five meets. Also, the medalist and runner-up medalist were determined by the low individual totals for the five meets. The order of finish this year was Washington, Clinton, Iowa City, Dubuque, and Jefferson. The winner of the MVC Conference was decided by a playoff between Washington and Clinton and the two top teams in the Southern half.

Jefferson ended up with a 7-4 record while finishing fifth in the North half of the conference. We were also second in the sectional and third in the district state meets. Lettermen this year were Lynn Lawrence, Dave Young, Gary Metelak (honorary captain), Craig Struve, Jim Brown, Stephen Seifert, and Chuck Haynor.

Determination Is Key Factor of Tennis Success

Fourth in MVC With 8-5 Record

The 1966 tennis season began without the services of the top three singles players of the previous year. After a shaky start, the J-Hawks finished by winning seven of the last eight in the conference. The steady play of Dave Cronbaugh and Kit Covington was a key factor in the surge; both were undefeated in intra-city singles play. Rick Naaktgeboren, a sophomore, ran up a fifteen match winning streak in singles and doubles. The highlights of the season were a 5-2 victory over the Warriors and a district doubles championship. The team of Cronbaugh and Covington was defeated by the eventual state champions. Coach Snider felt that the J-Hawks were easily the second best team in the field.

One of the most consistent players, Bill Neal, returns a sharp volley during a match.

Rick Naaktgeboren practices his swing before an important meet. Only a sophomore, Rick ran up a 15 match winning streak in singles and doubles over the season for quite an outstanding record.

Here Dave Cronbaugh leaps high to snag a high volley. Dave was instrumental in helping form a successful J-Hawk season. He won both No. 1 singles in the two Washington meets and scored vital victories in other important meets.

The 1966 J-Hawk baseball team compiled a 16 and 4 record, tying with cross-town rival Washington in the Mississippi Valley Conference. Jeff had a 7-win and 3-loss record in the conference and a 9 and 1 non-conference record. Jefferson's tournament hopes were again dashed by the Regis Royals.

Other than two runaway victories over Central City, the J-Hawks had a season of close games. The highlight of the season was an 11-10 over-inning victory over defending and leading champion, Moline. In the bottom of the 13th, pinch-hitter Al Hach lifted a towering fly over the left field fence for the winning margin.

Picher Doug Wilford compiled a perfect 3 and 0 record, while Randy Hale won eight and lost two and Gary Bannick had four wins and one loss. With Bannick and Wilford both returning next year, the outlook is good.

Second team catcher Joe Schmickle led in batting averages, with 7 hits in 16 trips for a .438 average. Regular Larry Finn had 14 hits in 51 at-bats to lead the starters with a .275 average. Tim Kelly, B. J. Trickey, and Dennis Hoelker tied for the most hits with 16 each.

The spring season closes only to open upon a new summer season. The J-Hawks have big plans for the future.

Performing Arts

...a moment in the sun finally arrives for performers, who burst with the pent-up excitement of many hours of grueling practice and then slowly fade with the warm bliss of having given a successful performance...
Rehearsals Start Weeks Before a Play...

Potential actors show their happiness or disappointment as the final cast list is posted for a school production.

Students participating in dramatics are offered experience in almost every phase of the theatre with the advantages of excellent stage facilities. The auditorium seats 800 people and has a stage which is 42 feet wide and 35 feet deep. The stage is equipped with a large counterweight system and a complete switchboard controlling a high quality lighting set up. Adjoining the stage is a spacious scenery shop for set construction and a costume room that has accumulated nearly 1000 different costumes. Thus a Jefferson production is no minor undertaking and often involves between 50 and 150 people in both cast and crews.

Mike Gallagher and John Ransom are given a few pointers by Mr. Geuder, head drama coach, while working on a scene during a typical blocking rehearsal.

Mixing paint to find exactly the right shade is no small problem for Larry Jeffords.

Mr. Meeker, Technical Director, discusses aspects of scenery construction with Craig Roloff who has designed some of his own sets.

The scenery crew triumphs in seeing the finishing touches added to one of the more elaborate sets.
In applying the right kind of make-up for Becki de Neul, Mr. Geuder considers such aspects as the character's age, stage lighting, and the colors of the costume.

The nimble fingers of Pat Kirkpatrick use needle and thread to add the trimming to the costume of a leading character.

... and Are Rewarded by the Final Curtain Call

Applause alone cannot measure the success of a play, for the cast and crews find the real thrills of stage work in the spirit of group effort for the common goal of putting on a good production.

As the audience leaves the auditorium, they step back into reality from the world of the stage.
In between the acts of 19th century melodramas, olio were presented as short vaudeville skits. Carol Schrage sings "Bird in a Gilded Cage" with the six Floradora girls.

In Jefferson's authentic melodrama, Flossie, an innocent and fragile girl, is kidnapped by the sinister Charlie. Ned Nimble, Flossie's virtuous brother who works hard to support his sister, heroically rescues Flossie from the villain. After inheriting the fortune of an unknown relative, the two live happily and prosperously.

"From Rags To Riches," a play so old and unread that it was out of print, was presented to Jefferson audiences on November 11, 12, and 13 as an example of the drama popular in America in the late 1800's. The melodrama is known for its trite plots, heroes and villains, exaggerated gestures, and the hisses and boos of the audience.

The tinny sounding piano rings out an old barbershop tune as the curtain opens on a typical sidewalk scene in the Bowery.

Exaggerated poses were used by all actors of the melodramatic era as in this climatic finale to the first act.
Charlie and Sam nearly do away with Ned until Flossie sneaks up from behind with a gun.

The unexpected entrance of Ned which occurs "just in the nick of time" brings cheers and applause from the audience.

Valere and Lucas, servants of Geronte, beat Sganarelle into admitting he is a doctor.

When choosing a play to be presented for Children's Theatre, Mr. Geuder decided to revise Moliere's "The Physician In Spite of Himself" to see if children would enjoy a simplified version of a play written for adults. He cut out the difficult vocabulary, added children's parts to the play, wrote in an exciting chase scene, and changed the title to "The Foolish Physician."

The play is about a woodcutter, Sganarelle, who pretends to be a physician able to cure Lucinde who has lost her power of speech. When the girl's father, Geronte, finds out he is not a doctor, he punishes the foolish Sganarelle. Eight performances were given at Coe auditorium on the weekend of December 9, 10, and 11.
Sganarelle begs Geronte's forgiveness for not admitting he was only a woodcutter.

Lucinde can actually speak -- she had just been refusing to talk because she wants to marry Leandre and not the man Geronte has chosen for her.

The Duke, played by Jim Niebuhr, is in love with Olivia who rebels his passion and is attracted to the boy image of Viola.

Malvolio, the smug and haughty steward to Olivia, is foolishly led to believe that Olivia loves him and so he appears cross-gartered to woo her.

Probably this year's biggest undertaking of the Thespians was the production of Shakespeare's "Twelfth Night". The play itself is about a confusing love triangle involving Viola who disguises herself as a boy. It is written so that the delicate comedy, sharp wit, and buffoonery are carefully intertwined with romantic theme. One of the difficulties for the cast was interpreting the Shakespearean dialect. Since the scenery was not changed, each scene was blocked to use a different part of the authentic Globe stage. The costume crew had a lot of work in making very extravagant Shakespearean costumes.
Viola, while posing as the boy Cesario, finds she loves the Duke.

The appearance of Sebastian, Viola's twin brother, resolves the mistaken identity.

Sir Toby and Sir Andrew, in their drinking and merrymaking with Feste and Maria, make such a disturbance that it awakens the temperamental Malvolio.
Mr. Meeker, Technical Director, designed the set for "Twelfth Night" from illustrations made by Dr. John Adams, authority on the Elizabethan Era.

Jefferson's ninth annual musical comedy, "Flower Drum Song", took place in the delightful Chinatown of San Francisco. This Rodgers and Hammerstein favorite is about the dilemma of Wang Ta who comes from a traditional Chinese family. Since it is the custom for the father in the family to choose his son's bride, Master Wang arranges for Mei Li to marry Ta. Linda Low, however, nearly lures Ta into marriage until he finds out she is too Americanized for him and decides that his father's decision is the wisest.

Master Wang finds Mei Li to be a suitable bride for his son. He is especially thrilled when the girl sings for him and plays on the flower drum.

An excited hush settles over the audience as Mr. Carlson starts the show with the downbeat to the overture.

"Emperor" Boasts Cast of 160

The Girls' Choir, Girls' Chorus, and Boys' Choir combined to perform a musical version of Hans Christian Anderson's fairy tale, "The Emperor's New Clothes". This well known story of the Emperor and his selfish wish to wear the handsomest suit of clothes in the kingdom was arranged by Fred Waring. Mr. Carlson, director, used a girls' chorus in the pit, two pianos, organ, and percussion for accompaniment. Two performances were given on January 20 and 22.

The Emperor is so vain that he can think of nothing else except of being the best dressed man in the kingdom.

The Emperor's proclamation that he will offer a large sum of gold to the person who can make him the best suit of gold is overheard by the three pickpockets who decide to pretend they can weave.

The Concert Band, under the direction of Mr. Colton, performed various seasonal selections including Howard Hanson's "Chorale and Alleluia". The Concert Choir then presented a modern Christmas opera by Menotti entitled "Amahl and the Night Visitors".

Band Concert and Menotti Opera Brighten Christmas Show

The opera takes place at the time of Christ's birth and is about a young crippled boy named Amahl and his mother who live alone and have few possessions.

On a night in which the Star of Bethlehem is shining very brightly, Amahl and his mother are visited by three wealthy kings, Kasper, Balthazar, and Melchior, who are on their way to visit the Christ child.
There Is More to Instrumental

What is music at Jefferson? It's something taken because it's liked, not because it's required. It's something that helps one to grow — culturally, mentally, and socially. It's a constructive way to express one's feelings. To some Jefferson music students, it will become their means of living. To others it will merely be something they dabbled in during high school and now appreciate much more. In music there is something for everyone.

Carol Rousso and Becki de Neui work at the information table in the All-City Music Contest held at Jefferson.

Mr. Tjaden and Mr. Colton help the decoration committee get the tables ready for the Band and Orchestra banquet.

First you saw a bit, then you pluck — some songs are a real drag for the basses.

Music Than 7:30 a.m. Rehearsals

"When I play, nothing else exists."

From out of the practice rooms comes anything from the trills and runs of clarinets to the sharp and brassy tone of the trumpet.
This year's officers were instrumental in selecting the new uniforms to be worn by the band. Examining a sample is Larry Miller, 1st Lieutenant, Bill Coppock, 1st Lieutenant, Steve Vosatka, Captain, and Mr. Luman Colton, director.
In Active Year of Many Appearances

From the first pep assembly to the final performance at Commencement, this year's band was engaged in a whirlwind of concerts and projects. In the fall, the band marched at all the home football games and went to West Davenport for an away game. The concert season began with the Christmas performance and later included performances at the junior high schools, the Spring Concert, and at North High School in Des Moines where the band was given a standing ovation. Marching was resumed in the spring with a trip to Pella and the Eastern Iowa Band Festival. Two big fund raising projects, the Candy Sale and the Carnival, rewarded the band with the anxiously awaited new uniforms.

Proud as could be in the new uniforms, the Jefferson Band led the way in the Eastern Iowa Band Festival.

The Jefferson Concert Orchestra strives to have the making of good music its major goal. The members of the orchestra are given valuable experience in playing many types of music. This year the variety of the music played ranged from the modern "Symphony no. 2" by Vittorio Giannini, to a humorous description of the animals in a zoo entitled "Carnival of the Animals" by Camille Saint-Saens. As a performing group, the Orchestra played at the annual Fall Pops Concert, the Honor Society induction, and the Spring Concert. Providing music for the Baccalaureate Service was their last function for the year.

Playing in an ensemble takes a wholehearted group effort but is a lot of fun—especially when a "first" is won in contest.

Next Fall Mr. Tjaden will teach at Southeast Missouri State Teachers College after having directed the Jefferson Orchestra since the school started.

A featured soloist in the Spring Concert was Teena Kosek, Concertmistress of the Orchestra. She had played in All-State Orchestra and the Cedar Rapids Symphony, and will be spending the summer studying music in New York.

Student officers are a vital part of a school music organization. They plan and prepare for the orchestra's functions to help make it a smooth running group. Engrossed In Music

Through its many performances the music of the Concert Choir has reached innumerable people in all walks of life. At Jefferson, the choir performed for the student body functions, and in the Fall Pops Concert, Christmas Concert, Spring Concert and in the Spring musical. Out of school, the choir sang at luncheon clubs, PTA's, churches, other schools, and made a television tape at Christmas. The vigorous schedule of the choir has made it a close-knit group. Long lasting friendships have been made that will be bonded by the lasting memories of the fun of Concert Choir.

As Department Manager, Ken Frantz did all of the heavy work connected with being in charge of all choir equipment.

There's a certain magical spell woven by the thrill of performing.

The choir contributed its share of spirit to the last football assembly with its own J-Hawk yell.

For the secular portion of concerts the choir wears blue dresses and white tuxedos. Often times the more rhythmic songs are livened by the use of string bass, bongos, and drums.

Music can cure all ills—well, most every ill.
Music-Filled Weekend in Chicago

As competition in the candy sale became more intense, the progress charts measured the size of the choir’s funds for its trip.

The spring musical is the effort of the entire choir. Some are on stage, others play in the orchestra, and still others work backstage.

Every day, money was checked in and recorded. The choir left on March 4 and, in three days, sang concerts in Glen Ellyn, Illinois and at Geneva Lutheran Church. They also toured the Museum of Science and Industry and saw a miniature opera.

In a typical rehearsal, Rick Adkins accompanies at the organ while Carol Schrage takes notes on what’s happening on stage.
In addition to the Concert Choir, the Boys' Choir, Girls' Choir, and Girls' Chorus are organized to give those students with an interest in vocal music an opportunity to sing. These groups sing in the Festival Chorus at Christmas, in the All-City Vocal Festival, and in the Spring Concert. They also put on an operetta and help out as dancers in the musical put on by Concert Choir. The best members of these groups are chosen for Concert Choir.

...shrewd, intelligent and taciturn youths of the "come alive set", who bought escalator tickets instead of phony elevator tickets, who finally realized that the library is really where the action is, and who carefully sidestepped all upperclassmen who were bigger than they.

Underclassmen
Varsity cheerleading try-outs attracted many sophomores with high hopes of becoming one of the chosen few to make the varsity squad.

Connie Fifield broke the discrimination barrier when she was the first girl at Jefferson to join the varsity golf squad.

Sophomores

The union of the former freshman classes from Roosevelt, Wilson, and other communities brought together former rivals. Old rivalries were soon forgotten, new friendships were established, and the sophomores banded together to form the largest class in Jefferson's history. Trudging back and forth to classes, having to spend more time in the library and on homework, and setting through class with dripping hair, wet from swimming, are some of the things that inevitably will be remembered.

They soon realized that there comes a time when all must give in and study—be it biology, foreign language, "team," or world history. Increased opportunities for new and different fields of competition and competitors in athletics, organizations to decide whether or not to join, and a realization that teachers were trying to instill workable knowledge, not dull facts, were things that sophomores took advantage of.

Many sophomores took major parts in sports, music, and drama. With a cast consisting mainly of sophomores, "The Emperor's New Clothes," was the first full-scale musical in the history of Jefferson Girls' and Boys' Choirs, and Girls' Chorus. Doug Lane heaved the shot 62'-11" to set a national sophomore record.

Taking the traditional heckling that sophomores get from upperclassmen in stride, they soon came to realize that the advice given them was not always the best. They learned that lunch ladies do not carry back trays, accept tips or bribes, nor do they bring à la carte orders to individuals who specially request them.

Biology lends itself for many discoveries. Doug Lane examines the world of microscopic organisms.

Juniors

With one year of high school behind them, and two years ahead, juniors returned to Jefferson with more confidence, and knew better what was expected of them by both teachers and the administration. Juniors could now be a part of the varsity athletic teams, and organizations such as Concert Choir, Quill and Scroll, and Junior Achievement. Courses such as American Heritage, chemistry, and journalism were made available, and many made use of the freedom of being able to choose a variety of courses. Discovering that this year was not too soon to start planning for the future, juniors took P.S.A.T., A.C.T., and National Merit Scholarship Qualifying tests. Confabs with counselors were held to determine the not so distant future of senior schedules. Planning "April Love," the junior prom, was the major project of the class officers. A number of juniors also went on the annual Heritage trip to Washington, D.C., the week after school was out. They found out that besides all the interesting sights that they saw and the new experiences that they had, a week of bus travel was a unique experience in itself. Becoming accustomed to the fact that in only a year their class will become the tenth to graduate from Jefferson and that two thirds towards their eventual goal of graduation is in the past, juniors can now look forward to the "good life" of a senior.

Final Exit
Equador has only two seasons, winter and summer. The winters are warm and dry, and the summers are cool and wet. Franklin Flores, AFS student from Guayaquil, Equador enjoyed a new experience in Iowa this year seeing snow for the first time.

Another new experience for Franklin was attending school with girls. Franklin lived with the Emery Petersons, 409 Owen Street. His American brother was Steve Peterson, junior.

Franklin speaks at an FTA meeting.

Student Index
As the end of a wonderful school year draws to a close, my thoughts reflect back over the events that happened. We all have our cherished moments of the '65-'66 school year and all of them are individualized within ourselves. Our staff has tried to capture the cherished moments of all of us, and now we present them to you in this yearbook.

I would also like to extend my sincere appreciation to those students who worked so diligently with such little recognition. Without these people this yearbook would not exist.
